Sues City For Right To Lay Conduit

Pasadena Brings Action To Secure Right Of Way
Thru Sierra Madre

The City of Pasadena has filed suit in the Superior court to compel the City of Sierra Madre to permit the laying of a 36-inch conduit from the Pine Canyon dam to Pasadena along Orange Grove avenue.

Negotiations between the cities had been under way since July 24, and City Manager Al S. Myers had given the Pasadena authorities Sierra Madre's requirements. Patchwork replacement of the paving after the conduit is laid would not be satisfactory, he told them. Sierra Madre insists on curb to curb repaving.

Also this city would prefer to lay the paving itself and asked Pasadena authorities to put up the money when the work is started, so that the city engineer can go ahead with the repaving as soon as the conduit is down. If Sierra Madre did the repaving it would be possible to employ local men on the job.

Pasadena's answer to these proposals was to file the suit against Sierra Madre. The complaint alleges that the dam will be completed by December 31 and that Sierra Madre is delaying the construction of the conduit and blocking Pasadena's opportunity to utilize the flood waters from this winter's rains. The court is asked to determine the conditions under which the conduit is to be laid through Sierra Madre, the route to be taken and the repaving required. Sierra Madre's answer is to be filed next week.

Phil Dodson, city solicitor, expressed the opinion that Pasadena filed the suit merely to be prepared in case the cities fail to reach an amicable agreement on the conduit. Mayor Reavis said a committee comprised of representatives of Pasadena, Sierra Madre, the Baldwin Estate and Arcadia was named to discuss the various problems raised by the laying of the conduit but that no meeting has been held. The only actual negotiations have been between City Manager Myers and the Pasadena officials. Arcadia, the Baldwin Estate, the county and the Santa Fe railroad are interested because of drainage problems involved.

Over Half Of Membership Quota Assigned Local Red Cross Chapter Enrolled By Active Field Teams

UP to Tuesday noon the Red Cross roll call showed 268 paid up members or 53 1/2 percent of the 500 allotted to Sierra Madre Chapter.

Two of the captains were unable to start the canvass in their districts until Monday morning, but they are full of enthusiasm and declare they will more than make up the lost time now they have really started.

Mrs. Margaret Senour, who was ahead in last week's report with 50 per cent paid up memberships in District 14, has bettered her own lead with a little over 53 per cent in District No. 8, which she took over when the captain assigned to it was unable to function. She says she has barely touched No. 7, which she assumed also, but is going to show a good return there.

District No. 3, Mrs. J. O. Smith captain, comes next with 46 per cent and Mrs. Smith states she has many promises from the balance of her prospects and that she feels confident of a very high percentage by the time the roll call ends.

District No. 15, Miss Lalla Fagge captain, shows 44 per cent with Thomas Meader, District 11 crowding up with 43 per cent, while Mrs. C. E. Allen in District 2 is not far behind with 41 per cent.

The roll call closes officially Thanksgiving Day but so many prospects have promised to bring in their memberships after next payday, that it will not be possible to announce the final results immediately after the official closing date. Miss Judson, executive secretary stated:

"The captains have done an immense amount of work which does not show in the percentages given, as often it has been necessary to make two or three calls before finding anyone at home. Then sometimes the result was a promise to bring the membership

Mrs E N Hawxhurst Badly Hurt In L. A.

Mrs. Edith N. Hawxhurst of 115 Bonita avenue, was painfully injured Monday morning in Los Angeles when a plank, being used as a skid to roll a heavy tank onto a truck, swung up as she was passing, struck her in the back and hurled her ten feet in the air.

She landed unconscious on the sidewalk and was taken to Golden State hospital, 417 Towne avenue, where she was treated for injuries to the spinal column, muscles of the back and bruises and contusions about the head body and knees.

She was brought home Wednesday evening and is now confined to her bed there.

Last Curtain Falls For A Noted Actor

Norval MacGregor Passes On
At Santa Cruz Ranch
Home Of His Son Owen

By John Copeland

When life's great curtain fell for Norval MacGregor Monday he could take no curtain-calls, yet perhaps he was content in the wings of some far universal backstage to gaze out on the audience of relatives and friends he left behind, and to see writ on saddened faces that their lives were richer and better for his having lived.

Mr. MacGregor died at the Santa Cruz ranch of his son, Owen L. MacGregor, a few short weeks after he left his Sierra Madre home. He had been in failing health for about a year, and for that reason and wishing to be near his family he reluctantly foresaw the old house on West Esplanade that was built by his father and mother, Duncan and Jane, when they moved here in 1887. He said au revoir not only to the house, but to Tobe Thompson, his friend of 40 years, as well. He didn't know his au revoir would be echoed by adieu.

Born in River Falls, Wisconsin, April 3, 1862, MacGregor started life with the keen desire to be a painter. The half dozen oil canvasses now remnants of that early ambition are tribute to the success he would have made if he had chosen to remain true to (Continued on Page Two)

Mrs. H. B. McClellan Dies 18 Days After Her 103rd Birthday

Mrs. Henrietta Belinda McClellan, mother of Curt McClellan, of 209 West Laurel avenue, who celebrated her 103rd birthday on November 1, passed away on Sunday at the Arcadia Sanatorium. She had made her home here with her son until very recently.

Born in North Carolina November 1, 1830, she moved when a small child in a wagon train with her parents to Indiana. She married Wesley McClellan in 1857. To this union there were born six children, three of whom are living. She celebrated her 65th wedding anniversary shortly before Mr. McClellan's death in 1925. She became a member of the Methodist Church in her early life and was still on its roll of members at the time of her death. During her residence of eight years in California, she enjoyed excellent health until recently.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday in Temple City, with Rev. William Duncan Ogg, assisted by Rev. S. R. Sheriff, officiating. Mrs. Nell Fies and Mrs. Richard Jensen sang two numbers. Interment was in San Gabriel cemetery.

Surviving are her three sons, Curt McClellan, of Sierra Madre; Olyve McClellan, of Nebraska; and Arthur B. McClellan, of Colorado; 28 grandchildren; 57 great-grandchildren, and three great-great-grandchildren.

Ban Poverty Speaker Tells His Audience

Dr. Brooks Of Pomona College Says Congested Wealth
Must Go In New Deal

"Paths from the Old World to the New," was the subject of a highly interesting and inspiring address given by Dr. Raymond Brooks of Pomona College at the Congregational Church dinner meeting on Friday night. It was the second in a series of four addresses and was heard by an even larger crowd than that of the previous month.

Rev. Arthur O. Pritchard, the pastor, presided at the community dinner preceding the address. Special guests of the evening were several city officials and their wives. The dinner was served by Mrs. A. F. Snell's section of the Women's Society.

In his first address Dr. Brooks had pointed out that the whole world seems to be at the end of an age, all departments of life giving evidence of the culmination of great changes in political, economic and religious thinking. Four factors chiefly influential in effecting these changes were pointed out: The scientific spirit, the democratic spirit, industrial organization of life, and the arrival of new kinds of science.

Under the guidance of science we have moved out of a world of magic to a rational world, declared Dr. Brooks. The scientific spirit holds that nothing ought to be withheld from investigation. It assumes that there is law and order in everything, and that it can all be understood if the investigation is carried far enough and in the right spirit. The sciences have come to stay and will be of further aid in working out the new order of things.

The democratic ideal has arrived, declared Dr. Brooks, if not the fact of complete democracy. Its advance is evident in the rapid spread of social ideas and the recognition of social responsibility as against the old idea of every man for himself at the expense of the other fellow, if necessary.

Democratic ideals regard all wealth, power and resources as being created for the benefit of all instead of for a privileged few. We must get rid of congested poverty and congested wealth. We must think in terms of equality of opportunity, with mutual respect and mutual service.

Industrial organization of life, with its profound influence on the workers, on the family and the home were touched upon very briefly. In this field the need for sound social principles is especially evident.

Development of new sciences was declared by Dr. Brooks to be one of the most vital of modern influences. Until very recent years scientific curricula contained only physical sciences, philosophy and mathematics. The rapid development of sociology and psychology was described, and its spread into every department of education.

Sociology helps us to see the necessities growing out of human relations. Psychology reveals the workings of the mind, the relations of mind and body, and seeks the cure for defects of human nature. These two branches of science, in the opinion of Dr. Brooks, should do much to remove many of the worst ills which beset mankind. The greatest events in history, according to Dr. Brooks, occur when man turns a corner and runs into an idea.

The next address by Dr. Brooks will be given following another community dinner on December 15.

Vote Here Today On The $1,850,000 School Bond Issue

Sierra Madre being a part of the Pasadena junior high school and junior college district, residents of this city will vote today on the proposal to issue $1,850,000 of bonds for reconstruction and remodeling of the district school buildings to conform with the State regulations to make school structures earthquake resistant. If the bond issue is approved by a two-thirds vote in the district, this city will help pay the principal and interest on approximately $860,000 of the total amount.

The only polling place in the city will be at the grammar school and will be open from 6 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Thanksgiving Day, 1933

BY MARY WARD

Thanksgiving Day, and we who sigh Can count the blessings we have known Since last this day was set apart And marked for prayer, Time has flown While fear and trembling filled men's hearts And idle millions knew despair. Brave workmen asked a living wage, While champing unrest filled the air. May this Thanksgiving give us strength, While patiently each bears his load, And like our Pilgrim Fathers' prayers, Still thank God for gifts bestowed.

—Sierra Madre, November 24, 1933.

MERITS OF $170,000,000 PROPOSAL TO BE VOTED ON IN CALIFORNIA DEBATED BEFORE LOCAL FORUM

By Luman U. Spehr

Saving the agricultural lands of the San Joaquin and Sacramento Valleys from going back to the desert by passing the Central Valley water and power bonds on December 19, will benefit Los Angeles and Southern California by reducing unemployment here, improving the market for the north for goods manufactured here, and lowering the tax rate by decreasing the amount necessary for charity and unemployment relief.

D. Glick, a dirt farmer from the San Joaquin Valley now resident in Los Angeles, presented this argument in favor of the $170,000,000 bond issue to be voted on by the California electorate next month, at the meeting of the Sierra Madre Forum in the City Hall Tuesday evening. And in rebuttal F. Murray Kessler, Los Angeles attorney contended:

That with interest the cost of the project may run to $250,000,000 before it has all been paid back; that the State will be morally if not legally obligated to pay out on the bonds if the district's revenues fail to meet them; that the benefit to labor will be negligible; that the Central Valley should pay for its own water project just as the Metropolitan Water district is doing.

Charges that the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. had backed the lobby opposing the bond issue bill at the last Legislature and now is paying speakers to oppose the new measure, were made by Mr. Glick.

Woman Ends Painful Life Leaving Note

Pathetic Letter To Chief Of Police Tells Tragic Story Of Laura Emery

At the end of the road, sick at heart and body, a woman of 42 who gave the name of Laura Emery, set the stage for the final curtain and hastened its descension in a little home at 238 North Auburn avenue. The tragedy was discovered by her landlady, Mrs. Amy Faranacci, of 276 Santa Anita Court, when the latter went to collect the rent yesterday morning.

Mrs. Faranacci found the back door open. She entered and found her tenant stretched on the floor of the bedroom, the gas turned on, with a hose attached and held to the victim's head with a wrapping of clothing. The police figured that the woman had been dead for at least two days.

Among the effects the police found a pocketbook containing a letter addressed to the "Chief of Police." It was a simple, pathetic final word, disposing of "all my worldly goods." It requested that they be given to her friend, Mrs. Anna Mool, of Sierra Madre Villa, who "was my good friend and supplied me with things to eat when I had nothing." The "worldly goods" consisted of a bench, a sewing machine, and a few boxes filled with table linen and bedding—all piled and segregated in a corner of the furnished house.

The letter was signed "Laura A. Armitage," although the woman had given the name of Emery when she rented the house. She came, she had said, from Ocean-side, in August. She had been suffering from acute spinal trouble.

Marlborough Road Improvement Asked

Frank Gibson and C. M. Cuddy appeared before the City Council on Wednesday night with a petition asking for the widening and improvement of Marlborough Road. They were informed the city was without authority to make any improvement because the road is not a dedicated street. However the Council agreed to investigate the matter and see if a way could not be found to give residents of Marlborough Terrace some relief before the rainy season begins.

O. R. Cline sent a letter to the Council protesting against a property owner on Holly Trail in the Canyon Park area attempting to turn a foot trail into an automobile highway on the ground that it would greatly damage his property. No permission was given by the city for such work and it was ordered stopped pending proper authorization.

Four Women Have Narrow Escape As Car Crashes Pole

Four women in a coupe miraculously escaped serious injury Tuesday morning when they crashed over the sidewalk at Mountain Trail and Grand View avenue and struck a telephone pole in avoiding another car which is reported to police to have entered the intersection without making the boulevard stop.

Blanche A. Lines, 721 Brookside Lane, who was driving the coupe reported to Officer H. C. Scott, that she was driving south on Mountain Trail when the car coming up Grand View darted into the intersection without stopping. She applied the brakes and her car skidded. The coupe ran over the pedestrians' crosswalk on the southeast corner, escaping the deep curb at that point, hit the pole, crushing fenders and running board on the right side and came to rest heading up the hill again.

Mrs. Lines and her companions were shaken up but none was seriously injured.

Xmas Party To Be Held December 23

Santa Claus Arrives At City Park Day Following Firemen's Annual Event

Merrymaking with the real Yuletide spirit, a program of novelties, of distinction and thrills, will mark the annual Christmas party and dance given under the auspices of the Sierra Madre Volunteer Firemen in the Woman's Club House on Saturday night, December 23rd. All the proceeds will go to fill the stockings of the poor needy children, and fatten the baskets the firemen will distribute on Christmas Day to those who may otherwise be forgotten at Xmas.

Arrangements are being made to entertain a record crowd at this year's party. As soon as the festivities are over the firemen will emulate Santa Claus and make the rounds of the selected homes, leaving toys and joy-giving knick knacks for the many kiddies who haven't even a stocking to hang up.

On Sunday evening the annual Christmas tree festivities will be held in City Park where Santa Claus will appear in person and welcome the youngsters under the huge Christmas tree with well filled stockings of candy and holiday sweets.

Toys are needed—any old toy, the old abandoned toys, broken or bent seemingly beyond repair. The Firemen have opened their toy shop in Kersting Court and will gladly receive anything that may help to warm the heart of some needy youngster. They can remake, repair, build anew anything, put a new wheel on the old wagon, a new leg on the old doll, regild the little red soldier. A last call is going out to all to dig into the depths of the attic or closet and send along the old abandoned and forgotten toys.

The men have rejuvenated all the material that has been brought to them and can handle any number of trinkets now. Later they will be out selling tickets and arranging for the holiday festivities. If you have something you want to bring joy to some kiddie, bring it in now.

Five Sierra Madre Properties Sold During Past Week

Five Sierra Madre properties were sold through the office of W. R. Humphries, local realtor, during the past week.

The former Stark home at 320 North Grove street was sold to Miss Kathryn Stretch.

Miss Margaret McGarraugh, of 172 1/2 North Lima street purchased the northwest corner of Ramona and Hermosa avenues, consisting of 100x110 feet, and has awarded a contract for erection of a small modern home.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Rockwell, of Wilmington, bought two lots, one on each side of their home on Montecito avenue in Pegler Park.

Two lots have been sold to Dr. and Mrs. M. H. A. Peterson on Montecito avenue. George A. Jones of the Sierra Madre Dairy, has purchased a half acre in Pegler Park.

City Nervous As Fire Hits Nearby Hills

Army Of More Than 3,000
Men Unable To Subdue
Blaze In Foothills

Fire raging through the canyons of Pickets, Dunsuir Haines, Earl and promising threat with a whim of the wind to sweep over towards Altadena and around the mountain to Sierra Madre, caused great apprehension here Wednesday night and Thursday. Hundreds of Sierra Madreans journeyed as far as Devil's Gate to survey the situation and viewed with alarm the apparent helplessness of the great army of fire fighters to stay the march of the flames.

Early last evening it was reported that home owners in Arroyo Seco Canyon had been given warning by rangers to prepare to abandon their estates. The situation was in the hands of the elements—a shift of wind would bring disaster.

The fire started Tuesday in the foothills above La Cresenta. Some heard a loud explosion before the flames began to race through the brush and scrub oak. Rangers and Angeles Forest officials were quickly on the job. Workers from the C. C. C. camps were summoned and several hundred volunteers enlisted. More than 500 men battled all night cutting fire breaks, aiming to save adjacent homes, many of which were destroyed.

During Wednesday the fire was confined to an apex, with a two-mile Southern boundary, and appeared to be under control until about 11 p.m., when the wind shifted suddenly and a 45-mile gale sent it sweeping to Foothill boulevard and over the Pasadena watershed. More than 3,000 men battled the blaze yesterday and it was still spreading last night.

Residents of Sierra Madre, from afar points of vantage, witnessed the madness of nature as the great waves of flames like tidal sweeps of the sea swept on to further destruction.

Late yesterday William V. Mendenhall, supervisor of Angeles Forest, was unable to estimate the extent of the disaster. He said the loss in watershed alone would reach $3,000,000. So far as the fire crews were aware only one house in Haines Canyon was destroyed, a cabin owned by J. R. Seebrecht. In the Briggs Terrace area near La Cresenta the homes of C. E. Wimer, Dr. Edward Kreck, Louise Dorenze, Dr. H. R. Cheeseman, Adolph Millard, Jennie Finkstrau, Dr. J. C. Hyder and a Mr. Bell were destroyed. In Blanchard Canyon, above Tujunga the homes of James Johnson, Eleanor Sorenson and a Mr. Munger were destroyed. A mountain winery, L'Hermite, was wiped out with 15,000 gallons of choice wines.

Chief Richards, of the Sierra Madre fire department, kept constantly in touch with the fire fighters. Sierra Madre is in the Santa Anita district of the mountain side, and would not be called, he said, unless the flames threatened Pasadena, its neighboring district.

Fix Date For First Drama League Play

December 15 and 16 have been set as dates for the Drama League's presentation of John Q. Copeland's three act play, "Comedy in April," it was announced at the Wednesday night meeting of the organization in the Old Barn Studios. The production will be on the stage of the Woman's Club House, and tickets are to go on sale Monday at Middough's Drugstore, Hartmans, Norris, Rikemans and the Book Box. Members of the Art League, Music League, as well as of the Drama group of the Municipal Allied Arts, will also have tickets for sale.

Although a number of Workshop skits have been staged for the benefit of the League itself in the several weeks of operation, "Comedy in April" will be the first long public production. It is stressed that the League is a municipal organization, functioning for the artistic welfare of the community, and that all profits resulting from any public presentations are to be used to build up the local Little Theatre movement. Whole hearted support of the initial stage venture is urged.

He that endureth to the end shall be saved.—Matt. 10:22.

When did we ever set our selves sincerely to any work according to the will of God, and fail for want of strength? It was not that strength failed the will, but that the will failed first.

WHAT YOU OWE

You, the average citizen, are in debt $2,000. So is your wife. So are each of your children and all other relatives. So is everyone else in the country.

A part of this debt you know about. You contracted it as a personal obligation. It's entirely your responsibility. But another—and the larger part—was contracted for you. The chances are that you don't realize you owe it—no one is dunning you for payment, and you aren't so much as paying the interest directly.

This latter is the public debt, which composes a substantial proportion of a total National debt in excess of $200,000,000,000. It's been growing at an accelerated rate during and since the war. You've permitted it to grow. You and your fellow citizens weren't sufficiently interested in government to work for policies standing for economy and efficiency. Or you voted for measures that increased the debt because it was easy to do, and didn't seem to affect you financially at all.

As a result we are paying one of the highest tax rates in history. Millions of our dollars go yearly to meet the interest on debt we permitted government to contract for us. Billions will be required to retire the public bonds we gave our debtors in exchange for their money. And every business, every individual, feels the burden.

Norval MacGregor, Noted Actor, Dies

that art. However, at the age of 20, his objective changed, and the love of the stage laid strong hold of him. And to the twin Muses, Thalia and Melpomene, he remained steadfast for more than fifty years.

An ideal and a fruitful life was his, whose consuming passion was the theatre, a life containing much hard work, but with its compensations of recognition and love. Known to all Pacific Coast theatre-goers as one of the West's best and most popular leading men, MacGregor built up to such a reputation by dint of careful preparation. He didn't become Nance O'Neill's leading man and manager overnight.

First there were those days at the old Trivoli opera house in San Francisco, as a super in "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Then down to Los Angeles, where at the Morosco Theatre and at the Burbank, the stock company of which he was a member played everything from Hamlet on down to the timely melodramas and farces whose very names are now forgotten.

Then with a traveling company he commenced a seven year world tour that took him to the remotest parts of the earth—Australia, Japan, India, to every land where the English tongue is spoken.

After that tour MacGregor reached his heights under the direction of Ada Dorey Carriers, and then in 1911, at which time he moved permanently to this city, he left the legitimate stage for awhile to work in the earliest motion pictures. He foresaw the destiny of the screen play. On the old Seilig lot he directed William Farnum in the first picturization of the famous film, "The Spoilers." Leaving there he signed with Universal Pictures, where he remained until his final "retirement."

That retirement was more a matter of fiction than fact, and actually wasn't very effective until MacGregor's final illness. For he played Father Junipero Serra in the Mission Play a few years ago, and since then he gave plentifully of his time and energies to the young people of Sierra Madre and to the Community Players in instructing them and passing down to another generation the fruits of his experience and talent. In his spare hours he busied himself with a tremendously extensive work, a poetic history of California—the golden state he loved so well. Shortly before his death he completed the book, although it was not revised to his satisfaction.

Surviving him are his son, Owen L. MacGregor, a sister, Jessie S. Hederly of San Marino, and his brother, Roderick MacGregor, of River Falls. According to his last wish, Norval MacGregor is to be buried in Santa Cruz next to his wife, the former Flo Lord who died some years ago.

By Mrs. Al S. Myers

THE whole world is now looking for a return of confidence, much as they once looked for the coming Messiah, according to Mrs. Clara Bryant Heywood, who brought a valuable survey of world affairs to the Woman's Club this week.

Mrs. Heywood was introduced by Mrs. Emma Jameson, who, as chairman of the Committee on Public Affairs, brought to the Club this friend of hers who has been an extensive traveler and student of the economic changes and conditions of the world. She attended the League of Nations conference in Geneva in 1926, and has been many times a student of a school for the discussion of world problems held in Geneva, Switzerland. Mrs. Heywood also attended the recent economic conference in London.

In describing the London Conference Mrs. Heywood said the task before the group was so stupendous and the conference itself so large that it was really small wonder that so little of any importance came of it. The conference as a whole blamed the three major powers, England, France, and United States for their inability to "get anywhere," but what would one expect of a conclave of about 3000 people of all nationalities plunged into an attempt to set the whole world right. Small wonder that, according to a famous N. Y. Times reporter they ended with "neither a shanty or a palace."

They should have begun by settling a few things and building for themselves a "shanty" and gone on at later times with smaller groups until they finally erected for themselves a "palace."

The matter of unemployment and hard times is not nearly so pressing in the United States of America as in many other nations, says Mrs. Heywood and until we can all come to see things in terms of world conditions and world betterment nothing definitely beneficial can be accomplished. Disarmament must be a fact in every nation and they must all think in terms of a definite economic structure that will benefit all mankind before we are on the right track.

Mrs. Heywood quoted Walter Lippman as saying "Only the consciousness of a purpose that is mightier than any man, and worthy of all men, can fortify and inspire and compose the souls of men," and added, "to make an ordered life of this planet we have an opportunity to take part in one of the greatest moments in history." And that moment is here and now.

Mrs. Donald C. Ashmore opened the meeting with a beautifully rendered vocal selection, "We Thank Thee," accompanied by Mrs. George Morgridge at the piano.

Mrs. Nestor Young announced a meeting of the Home Making Section in the Osgood Room at the Woman's Club on December 5 at 2 p.m. There will be a speaker from Pasadena on some phase of home decoration.

After the cafeteria luncheon Mrs. Osgood gave a report of the work of the National Planning Commission and told how our local projects such as the settling basin on Central and the Bailey Canyon Park project "tie in" so fittingly with the National program.

Mrs. Pulling gave an inspiring talk on "Slums," their influence and how they must be and are being eliminated.

Mrs. Boyd Keith told of the forthcoming bond election to make our school buildings "earthquake-proof" and Mrs. Lawless told of the need for and meaning of water conservation bonds which will be voted on in December.

Mrs. Addis, curator of the Book Review Section gave some interesting reviews and gave a list of new books, while the ladies pieced quilt blacks for the Needle Work Guild.

Mrs. Addis said that in serious fiction, as well as biography, there seems to be a marked inclination to take refuge in the unchangeable past, rather than an attempt to catch the quickly changing pattern of today's thought and action. "Lamb in His Bosom," by Caroline Miller, tells the story of the Carven family, and the strange self-contained life they had pioneering in the Georgia wilderness before the Civil War.

Another book of the past, very enjoyable, and not to be taken too seriously, is "The Journey of the Flame," by Antonio de Fierro Blanco, the story of one year in the life of Dona Juan Obregon, child of an O'Brien who, like all O'Briens, was rightfully King of Ireland, but had a Mexican mother.

The book is written somewhat in the style of Don Quixote, with an occasional lapse into the style of Peppy's Diary, and a strong dash of the adventures of the Baron Munchausen.

In "Gay Life," E. M. Delafield gives us a novel drawn from a cross section of the life of visitors on the Riviera.

Galsworthy's latest book, "One More River" carries on the story begun in "Flowering Wilderness." "Wonder Hero" by Priestly tells us of a young working man who is caught up in the whirl of newspaper fame, quite by accident, only to meet with another victim of the system, a pretty girl who has won a beauty contest. Both, after a brief moment in the lime light, are thrown into outer darkness again by the newspaper wheel, which has picked up new tickets for the public maw, and no longer knows of their existence.

Mr. H. A. Overstreet in "We Move in New Directions," says "Some people are asking apprehensively: 'Is there going to be a revolution?' The answer is that we are at the present time passing through three revolutions—economic, cultural and spiritual." Maurice Hindus, author of "Humanity Uprooted" and "Red Bread," gives us another book on Russia called "The Great Offensive," written just after a recent visit to Russia, and of special interest in view of the recent recognition of Russia by the United States.

In biography there is Edward the Seventh by E. F. Benson. This book finishes a very complete survey of the English Royal House, with sidelights on other Royal Houses, and the parts played by them in recent world history.

Following in Mrs. Addis' list for this month:

"Princess Alice," Alice Longworth Roosevelt; "King Edward the Seventh," E. F. Benson; "We Move in New Directions," Overstreet; "Great Offensive," Maurice Hindus; "Tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen," Howard Carter; "Mystery and Prophecy of the Great Pyramid," Knight; "Richard Harding Davis and His Day," Fairfax Downey.

Fiction—"Lamb in His Bosom," C. Miller; "Gay Life," E. M. Delafield; "Journey of the Flame," Blanco; "One More River," Galsworthy; "Wonder Hero," Priestly.

The junior and motion picture departments of the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's Clubs, are having a theatre party on Saturday, December 2, from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., at Grauman's Chinese Theatre in Hollywood. taking out but one membership as, if they give more than the dollar, a greater proportion remains in Sierra Madre, fifty cents of each membership only going to Washington, whether the membership is one dollar or one hundred."

The amount collected up to Monday night is $462.25 or about 18 1/4 per cent of the budget of $2590.00 needed to carry on the Red Cross work for the coming year very conservatively estimated.

The workers report a wonderful spirit of friendliness and desire to help, but the donations are not so numerous nor so large as in former years. Miss Vanier, Chapter Chairman, stated that this was a source of very grave anxiety to the directors as all indications point to very great need of the Red Cross relief work this winter. She stated that applications for aid from those not coming under the county or Federal relief agencies are increasing every day.

call at the door of each and every house in Sierra Madre in the ticket selling campaign soon. These tickets are to raise funds for the annual Christmas Tree and Treat that is sponsored by the Fire Department. We realize that many are unable to contribute, but to those that can, we urge your support and if you care to either dance or play cards, we assure you your money's worth, if you attend the party.

It is expected that the movie that was taken of the brave boys a week or so ago, will be ready to show to the board of censors at the meeting tonight. Although we have not heard for a certainty, we hope that the camera has survived the ordeal, and that the pictures will be shown.

Despite the fact that we have been without a fire in Sierra Madre for quite a long spell, the members continue to practice caution and remind folks that carefulness about fire must be practiced in order that we may retain the estimate of the Board of Fire Underwriters already established. It is suggested that home owners look over the garage and make sure that old oil soaked rags are not lying around in the corners. Another good fire prevention move is to see that dead brush and tall dry weeds and grass is kept cleared away from buildings, in fact for no other reason than neatness such matter should be cleared away from any place. And it might be a good place to mention that the fire department is in possession of a resuscitator that is at the service of the public. If needed, call the City Hall immediately.

You have never heard real bragging unless you have listened to the fat lady who took off two pounds by heroic dieting.

Fire Flames

By one of the boys

AND now since the Toy Shop is open each evening, the boys of the fire department need more toys to keep them busy. Thanks to the party that donated the boxing gloves, the men have some sort of amusement while waiting for toys to come in.

The Firemen were well represented at the turkey dinner given by the members of St. Rita's Church last Saturday. And to hear that each one of them was satisfied is sufficient evidence that the dinner was par excellence. True to form, the members of the "Southwest" corner were seeking some such a corner there, but Father Hyacinth was very much alert.

We once more repeat that the men of the fire department will

IN YOUR GARDEN

By Jessie Ward Russell
Landscape Gardener

THE following article on "Flowers and Ornamentals for Special Uses" was taken from Circular 53, California Agricultural Extension Service.

"Home gardeners should plan for permanent effects in the garden. Deciduous flowering shrubs and trees, deciduous flowering climbers and trailing plants, boulevard evergreens for flowers and berries, evergreen flowering trees, evergreen flowering vines and trailers and occasionally some of the yuccas, bamboos, palms, grasses and large succulents may be used to secure these permanent effects.

"The flower grower usually finds that he must select plants for a particular environment. Possibly he may need herbaceous plants or shrubs for shade with plenty of moisture. In other parts of the garden there may be a need for plants which will tolerate a hot sun. These sun loving plants may require considerable moisture in some instances but many other plants suitable for sunny situations are drought resistant. Only in a few cases will a drought-resistant plant not be able to stand a hot sun.

"Gardeners have a tendency to become specialists. After working to establish a permanent garden they often wish to build special kinds of gardens. Rock gardening has recently become very popular and has greatly increased the demand for rock garden plants of both desert and alpine types. More people are building lily pools in their gardens than ever before and this development has increased the demand for aquatic and bog plants.

"Those who do not have space for full-sized gardens may have gardens in hanging baskets, window boxes and bowls.

Many of the succulents are adapted to the small portable gardens."

THE RIGHT AND WRONG WAY TO SPRAY PLANTS

Often a gardener is surprised and disgusted when he finds after spraying his plants that the bugs still seem to prevail. The reason usually is that the method of spraying was faulty and as a result the plant in all likelihood was not more than half sprayed, the half missed being the favorite half of the insect pests. This is the under side of the leaves.

Thorough and effective spraying demands that particular attention be directed to hitting the under side of the leaves. That is where the plant lice or aphids congregate and breed. That is where the so-called "worms" or "slugs" caterpillars of some insects do their work. You must thoroughly spray the under side of the leaves to make spraying effective. Merely drenching the upper surface of the leaves will not eliminate the insect pests.

An excellent plan is to start from the base of the plant and spray upward, hitting the under sides of the leaves thoroughly. Then hit the upper surfaces. In contact poisons the insect must be hit with the spray material to be killed. With arsenical poisons this is not necessary, but enough should be spread so that the feeding insect or "worms" will get a good mouthful of it.

Sprays which operate by air pressure are the most effective, distributing the poison with less effort, a few strokes of the piston compressing enough air to send the spray over a large surface. For small plants or small gardens hand spraying outfits with a mason fruit jar as a container for the poison are handy and efficient. The piston must be operated continuously in these to distribute the spray.

EVERY MOTORIST OUGHT TO KNOW THIS

There would be a big reduction in the appalling number of automobile accidents if drivers would stop to consider the distance necessary to bring their cars to a stop. The following table shows the number of feet traveled in one second and distance required to stop at those speeds:

Speed per Hr.	Travel Sec.	2-Wheel Brakes	4-Wheel Brakes
20 mi.	29 1/3 ft.	37. ft.	22.2 ft.
25 mi.	36 2/3 ft.	58. ft.	34.7 ft.
30 mi.	44 ft.	83.3 ft.	50. ft.
35 mi.	51 1/3 ft.	113 ft.	68.2 ft.
40 mi.	58 2/3 ft.	148 ft.	89. ft.

WONDERS OF SOUTH AMERICA TO BE SHOWN

A journey through the four greatest countries of South America, from Brazil on the east coast to Chile and Peru on the west coast will be brought to the audiences who attend Edward Tomlinson's lecture, "South America—Wonderland," illustrated by full-sized motion pictures, when it is presented as the second of the "Globe-Trotter Series" sponsored by the Pacific Geographic Society on the evening of November 28 at the Civic Auditorium in Pasadena.

There will be vivid contrasts between the up-to-date cities and the remnants of ancient civilizations, between the splendor of life on the great "estancias" and the easy-going poverty of the humble folk, between the culture of the new generations and the manners and customs of the older ones, as well as an abundance of beautiful scenery.

Forum Hears Big Project Explained

Expert Tells How Central Valley Plan Will Affect State's Resources

Interest of the Federal government in the rampages of the Sacramento river at flood, when enough water wastes to the sea to irrigate several counties all summer, extends over about 10 years, said Louis Bartlett, addressing the Sierra Madre Forum on California's natural resources and economic stability last Thursday.

Surveys by Federal engineers for the Hoover-Young Commission, and long time studies by joint legislative committees resulted in legislation to change the habits of the unruly Sacramento. A great dam at Kennett will hold back the flood water, releasing it in equalized flow, so that the river will resume its old summer job of holding back the salt waters of Carquinez Straits that now eat into the rich Delta lands, infiltrating with salt the domestic water supply of cities along the way. The river must also give up part of its volume to keep a great conduit filled with water, which, passing under the straits, will provide domestic supplies.

Enough water will be pumped into the San Joaquin valley to restore the depleted underground water sources, and fill canals that will reach Bakersfield.

Since the policy of the Federal government requires that municipalities and irrigation districts must have preference in purchasing power from all public works projects financed by it, ten millions will be included in the Central Valley Water project to build a great power plant at Kennett dam, and transmission lines all the way to Antioch will release power to the farms and homes.

More power will be created by the other dams, and this cheap hydro will be the yard stick for rates.

"More power for less money," said the speaker, means comfort for homes, heat, hot water, light and household appliances. Re-counting his recent experience in Ontario where six hundred cities enjoy a second bracket one cent rate, Mr. Bartlett said a million dollars worth of hot water heaters were being purchased out of hydro surplus funds to be given to the homes without any charge with a flat rate of twenty dollars a year for current.

Mr. Bartlett challenged the statement of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, that California had too much power, and said that rate-payers were carrying the cost of this company's 19 closed power plants, whereas this potential power and all that could be developed, if delivered at proper rates, would be used.

Asked about the financial difficulties of California irrigation districts, Mr. Bartlett said the depreciation of their bonds was not as great as that of many industrial securities, although distress in agriculture dated from 1922. The Turlock-Modesto District, which retained its own power is in good financial condition, as are all the publicly owned power plants in the State.

Mr. Bartlett said the Central Valley Plan bill is an enabling act, not a bond issue, the same kind of bill enacted to enable Southern California to contract for Boulder Dam water and power, for the Metropolitan Water District, and for the East Bay Utilities.

Reading Attorney General Webb's rulings, it was shown that taxes could not be levied under the act, nor State funds of other departments diverted, and that contracts to buy the water and power produced by the project must be executed by the municipalities and districts before the Federal Government will authorize the project.

One third of the entire cost, forty-three million dollars, will be an outright gift from the Federal reclamation department, the balance a loan, secured solely by the earnings represented in the contracts as in the Boulder Dam project. Loans on this basis have been the policy of the Federal government since 1905, Mr. Bartlett said, and 24 Federal water and power projects are the result.

The direct gift is based on the great necessity of saving four hundred thousand acres of highly cultivated land, upon which the values and industry of the area's cities depend, also general business throughout the State. Much of this area is well on its way back to desert, the speaker declared.

Concluding, Mr. Bartlett said the battle on the bill was being made by the private companies.

During the ten minute Current Events period, Mrs. Jessica Wright gave a comprehensive outline of the Red Cross activities, and their great value locally and in the Nation, particularly in this year of need.

A. L. A. Activities

By Minnie Stinman

ON November 16, the regular meeting of the 18th district was held in the fine clubhouse on South Fair Oaks avenue, Pasadena.

Representatives of Unit 297 were President Leila Embree, First Vice-President Orelia Stinman, Hospital Chairman Lucile Pickett, Child Welfare Chairman Helen Lovejoy, and Secretary Minnie Stinman. Preceding the meeting was a reception in honor of department officers present.

Mrs. Ernestine Aylward, Department President, Mrs. Ethel Marsh, First Vice-President and Membership Chairman of Department, Mrs. Gladys Farrand, Department Publicity Chairman, Mrs. Martha Decker, Past Department President, and Mrs. Myrna Wynkoop, Department Americanism Chairman.

Beautiful music was furnished by a marimba quartette, accompanied by piano, saxophone and violin. Other officers invited to the President's station were Mrs. Beatrice Trumbull, President of the Fourth area, Mrs. Gladys Prescott, Department President of Past President's Parley, Mrs. Edith Howerton, who was president of District 21 last year, and is twin sister of the department's first vice-president.

Mrs. Laura Smithson, who was district president last year, gave a short talk on the work of the A.L.A. county council, of which she is president this year. The council is particularly concerned with aiding those veterans who, thru the recent Economy Act, have lost part of all of their compensation. Mrs. Smithson stated that there are 11,000 such cases before the Veterans' Bureau in Los Angeles now. They will come up for re-rating, but investigation and settlements must be slow. The council undertakes to help tide these cases over this anxious waiting time, depending on the Units for necessary funds. Plans are being made for Christmas baskets, toward which a fund of $1000 is being raised.

Roll call of Units showed more than 200 members present, only one Unit of the 22 in this District was without representation.

Leila Embree, who, besides being unit president, is first vice-president and membership chairman of the district, was highly elated over the fact that 764 names went in the first pick-up. Our quota is 1374, so we have more than 55 per cent. The second pick-up will occur in December, probably on the 15th, exact date announced later. Our delegates are not going to sit under the balcony again, though we have a very clever alibi for that occurrence at Pasadena. It goes like this:

We knew we were to be hosts to the convention and it is always polite for the host to take the back seat and let the guests have the best places, therefore we didn't raise our quota and so took the poorest seats ourselves.

District 18 was second in number of names sent in on the pick-up, first place being won by District 21. Instead of losing strength during the depression, the American Legion Auxiliary has grown.

In 1929, last of the boom years, National enrollment was 330,000. In 1933, it is 354,788. The fact that, during this year of acute economic distress, more than 350,000 women paid dues into the A.L.A., shows how they value the organization and the interest they take in its civic and patriotic work.

Past presidents of 1931 met at the home of Lucile Pickett for a sewing bee last Friday. Those present were Irene Baker, district president, San Dimas; Gladys Prescott, Alhambra; Mary Hinkle and Myrna Wynkoop, East Pasadena; Mrs. Erdman, Monterey Park; Lydia Jester, Azusa; Mrs. DeLapp, Pomona; Julia Sawyer, La Verne; Mrs. Lester, Temple City; Dr. Adieu, Baldwin Park;

Mary Scofield, Puente, and Leila Embree and Lucile Pickett. Mrs. Augusta Coats reviewed a new book, "What is Americanism?" by Frank Ernest Hill, at the meeting of Unit 297 on November 23.

$170,000,000 Proposal Is Debated Here

voters next December 19 work will start the first of the year. And $170,000,000 in money added to the circulation of this State will be a life saver to Southern California as well as to the Sacramento and San Joaquin Valleys.

Mr. Kesler took issue with Mr. Glick on many points, his address being devoted largely to answering the points the first speaker had made.

"The Federal government has given no assurance that it will advance the $127,000,000 loan expected," he said, "and if it doesn't the bill provides that money can be taken from the road funds, the gasoline tax, the schools and public institutions with which to proceed with the work. And there is no provision for paying back this money."

"If the bonds are issued and revenues expected fail to materialize, how are they to be paid off? The speaker says there is no obligation on the part of the State to pay them but we cannot have our bonds defaulted. There will be a moral obligation to pay which the State will have to meet and the burden will fall on the taxpayers. The estimated deficit in State funds for the first biennium is already $31,000,000. Yet this project would make it possible to take funds out of various sources, thereby increasing the deficits."

"Mr. Glick said the bonds would be paid back out of the revenues, but I know something about similar projects in states further north where 90 per cent of the farms are delinquent on their water bills. In the San Joaquin and Sacramento Valleys today 79 per cent of the water districts are in default. This is just an attempt to pick them up and make the whole State pay for it."

"They hope to charge $3 for a service that now costs $1.32. How do they think the farmers will be able to meet a higher charge than they are now paying and still make money?"

"In California this year 18 per cent of all production was unsold and even the price of olives was pushed down till the growers could not make the cost of production. Yet they would throw thousands of additional acres into production by this project to further increase this oversupply. It is going directly against the President's idea of curtailing production."

"As to developing more power, we now have 50 per cent more power than can be used in the State and Boulder Dam is still to be considered."

"The largest number of men employed on Boulder dam at one time is 4,000 and Boulder dam is a larger project than this one. Yet they say it would give work to 25,000 men."

"Southern California has paid for its own water supply with its own bond issue. That is exactly what the Sacramento and San Joaquin Valleys should do if they want water."

Industry Program Gets Fine Support From Orchardists

More than 75 individual California and Arizona citrus agreements from as many local cooperative associations and district exchanges affiliated with the California Fruit Growers Exchange have already been signed and mailed to Washington since the receipt of the final documents last Thursday, according to Paul S. Armstrong, general manager of the Exchange.

"We mailed about fifty signed agreements last Saturday and another 25 today, representing over 22,000 cars of oranges and grapefruit," said Mr. Armstrong. "At this rate most of them should be signed and cleared through the Exchange this week. This is very encouraging and indicates the enthusiastic support that citrus growers are giving this industry program."

Both the Florida and the California-Arizona agreements include the National Stabilization plan, which it is planned to have ready for operation next month.

JOHN BOLES
"ONLY YESTERDAY"
UNIVERSAL PRODUCTION

The local screen has never shown a motion picture filled with greater emotional appeal than "Only Yesterday," the Universal production now playing in Pasadena at Bard's Colorado Theatre.

The work of Margaret Sullivan in the leading feminine role, well explains why she has recently created such a sensation on the New York stage. Never before in his screen career has John Boles contributed such a performance as he does in the principal male role.

A farewell meeting of the present worthy matron, Mrs. Izetta Carlson, and worthy patron, Edward Robertson, was held on Monday evening. Gifts were given the matron at the close of the new officers on December 4.

Higher Returns In Sight For Avocado Growers This Year

Despite the trend of returns of most farm produce this year Southern California calavo-avocado growers will receive an average net return during 1933 that is 12 per cent higher than the 1932 average, announces George B. Hodgkin, general manager of the Calavo Growers' Exchange. This achievement of greater cooperation in marketing is in the face of the most difficult marketing year in history.

Average net returns to growers this year, over all grades and all varieties, will be 9.3 cents per pound. Returns on "calavos" in some pools will run to approximately 20 cents per pound to growers. Returns on even the poorest fruit handled will be approximately 4 cents per pound. Despite the crop being 34 per cent less than that of a year ago, and that therefore the marketing costs had to be absorbed by a materially smaller tonnage, the cooperative's costs were actually reduced 44 per cent under those of 1932.

Approximately $70,000, additional to pool payments, will be distributed to grower-members this year in partial and final refund "dividends."

WILL ROGERS COMES TO ARCADIA THEATRE

Will Rogers, who portrays the country doctor in "Dr. Bull," to be shown this evening and Saturday at Dean's Arcadia Theatre has as his supporting cast Marian Nixon, Ralph Morgan and Andy Devine. A Walt Disney Silly Symphony, "King Neptune," in color is another attraction billed on this program.

A double feature program, "Kennel Murder Case," and "Take a Chance," are scheduled for Sunday and Monday. "The Kennel Murder Case" brings William Powell back to the screen as Philo Vance, the famous detective character created by S. S. Van Dine. "Take a Chance" is a musical comedy with James Dunn, Jane Knight and Cliff Edwards.

Thanksgiving Day will bring a double billing, "Way to Love," and "The Power and the Glory."

Meeting of Pegler Park Property Owners Tonight

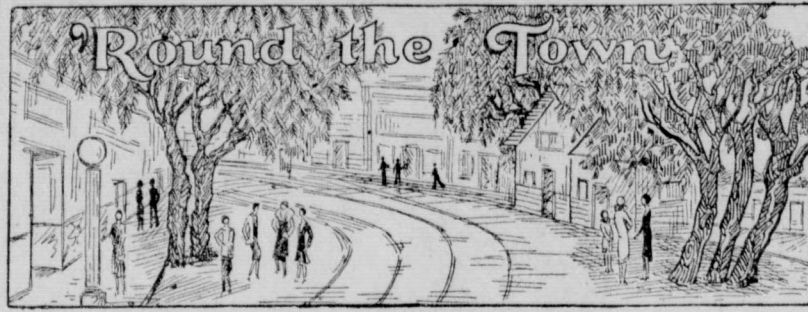

Tonight owners of the above property will meet at the office of W. R. Humphries, recently appointed liquidator of the remaining unsold lots of the property now known as Pegler Park. The meeting has been called to discuss the matter of planting shade trees in the parkings and other improvements which will tend to make Pegler Park one of the most attractive sections of this city.

The liquidation prices set by the owner of the tract are remarkably low, so much so it has been deemed imperative that no reference be made to them in any advertising or public statement. Present owners are now availing themselves of the privilege of securing the lots adjacent to the property they already own. To those who may wish to purchase residential property at this time the extremely low prices will appeal. A small payment will secure parcels, the balance of the purchase price being taken care of in small monthly payments. Every effort is being made by Mr. Humphries to make it easy, convenient and profitable for the present and prospective owners who desire to avail themselves of what is considered Sierra Madre's greatest real estate offering.

This subdivision is served by Canon, Highland, Montecito and Central avenues and carries proper restrictions as regards cost of houses to be erected, together with racial and other requirements.

This section enjoys magnificent mountain and valley views. The absence of shacks and untidy homes is noticeable. All street improvements are in and paid for and the first half of this year's taxes paid. It is convenient to Pacific Electric transportation, schools, stores and churches.

Real estate profits can be made by those who are fortunate enough to avail themselves of this offering. Present owners have the first choice of lots and it is anticipated that all of this property can be sold to Sierra Madre people and not offered outside this community. Four lots can be purchased today at a smaller price than originally paid for one lot a few years ago. Mr. Humphries has an interesting home-building window display on exhibition for those who wish to build at present day low prices. Many attractive floor plans and suggestions for homes in various styles of architecture can be examined, and full and complete information given regarding the cost of building in Pegler Park. —Adv.

Traffic Law Enforcement Begins Here

Jail Terms Promised As First Arrests Made To Stop Reckless Driving

Two arrests were made and dozens of drivers were warned of the beginning this week of a campaign to end reckless driving on Sierra Madre's streets.

Speeding, driving on the wrong side of the street, ignoring boulevard stops, driving with cutout open, non-observance of pedestrians' rights, parking on the wrong side of the street, and various other infractions of the law are being reported many times daily, Chief of Police Gordon McMillan announced. He has instructed his officers to give particular attention from now on to enforcement of traffic regulations.

Louis Neumann was convicted of speeding on Baldwin avenue last Tuesday and was given the option of a $10 fine, three days in jail or forfeiture of his driver's license by Police Judge Thomas Neale. He paid the fine.

H. H. Turner was fined $3 for failing to make a boulevard stop at Central and Baldwin avenues. "Scarcely a day passes that we do not receive a report of some Sierra Madrean who has narrowly escaped death or serious injury in front of some recklessly driven automobile," Chief McMillan said. "Reckless driving and speeding is going to be stopped and I have the assurance of Judge Neale that straight jail terms will be imposed on future offenders."

Bazaar At St. Rita's Brings Many Guests From Out-Of-Town

John Spoelstra, manager of the Central avenue Safeway Store, was winner of the hope chest at St. Rita's Parish Recovery Bazaar on Saturday evening. The bazaar proved very successful from every standpoint and was patronized by many out-of-town visitors as well as Sierra Madreans. The dinner, a tribute to culinary art, was served by an efficient force of voluntary waitresses.

The committee in charge of the affair this year wishes to express its sincere appreciation to all who contributed to the success of the bazaar by their patronage and their assistance, and hopes to see the same faces together with new friends next year.

Winners of the various other prizes were Mrs. L. F. Bartel, 268 East Grand View avenue, auto tire; Margaret Bergin, 87 West Central avenue, $5 order auto parts; Eileen Lane, of Temple City, Puritan ham, and Hazel Farrell, 108 East Central avenue, doll.

Congregational's District Meetings Largely Attended

All reports from the five simultaneous meetings of the Congregational Church on Wednesday evening indicate that all were very successful. The general purpose was to foster the Christian spirit and friendliness of the members but the programs varied as each gathering was in charge of a local committee. The members averaged about 25 at each place with the banner attendance found in the southerly section at the home of Mrs. Fred Hooker Jones.
